DETAILED ACTION

This Office Action is in response to Request for Continuation Examination (RCE) filed August 19, 2005. Claims 1-8 are presented for further examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamakita (hereinafter "Yam", European Patent Application 0 865 192 A2) in view of Shaffer et al. (hereinafter "Shaffer", US Patent 6,092,114).

As per claim 1, Yam discloses data communication system for sending and receiving e-mail between electronic devices by an e-mail system using a transmission control protocol/Internet protocol (TCP/IP) as a communication protocol, said data communication system comprising:

- A transmitting electronic device including at least an e-mail sending/receiving function for attaching obtained original data to the e-mail, adding a processing command and sending the e-mail to a network (column 1, lines 1-3, column 3, lines 4-7, column 5, lines 4-10);

Art Unit: 2157

- A relay server for receiving the e-mail sent from said transmitting electronic device, processing the original data attached to the e-mail based on the added processing command, attaching the processed data to the e-mail, and sending the e-mail to a receiving electronic device (column 3, lines 9-16, 28-31, column 5, lines 25-40, column 6, lines 1-7, 24-30).

Yam does not explicitly disclose:

- Wherein said processing command indicates an instruction for editing the obtained original data.

However, in an analogous art, Shaffer discloses a client sending a request to a local server requesting manipulation of an attachment located in an email attachment. The request is for format conversion of the attachment (column 4, lines 15-20, 65-67, column 5, lines 1-9, 22-30, column 7, lines 39-62).

Therefore, one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have found it obvious to implement or incorporate Shaffer's processing command indicates an instruction for editing the obtained original data in Yam's system in order to for the recipient user to have access of the attached file.

As per claim 2, Yam discloses a data communication system according to claim 1, wherein said electronic devices comprise an image pick-up device for capturing still image data as the obtained original data, and the processing command comprises an editing command for editing the still image data (column 1, lines 52-58, column 3, lines 26-30, column 5, lines 14-24).

As per claim 3, Yam discloses a data communication system according to claim 1, wherein the processing command is in a text format and is predetermined by an agreement between said transmitting electronic device and said relay server (column 5, lines 48-58).

As per claim 4, Yam discloses a data communication system according to claim 1, wherein said transmitting electronic device is connected to said network via communication means using Bluetooth standards (column 5, lines 25-35, column 13, lines 15-17, 28-30) .

As per claim 5, Yam discloses a data communication method for sending and receiving e-mail between electronic devices by an e-mail system using a TCP/IP as a communication protocol, said data communication method comprising the steps of:

- Attaching original data obtained in a transmitting electronic device to the e-mail adding a processing command and sending the e-mail from said transmitting electronic device to a network (column 1, lines 1-3, column 3, lines 4-7, column 5, lines 4-10);
- Receiving the email sent from said transmitting electronic device a relay server on said network, processing the original data attached to the e-mail based on the added processing command, attaching the processed data to the e-mail and sending the email to a receiving electronic device (column 3, lines 9-16, 28-31, column 5, lines 25-40, column 6, lines 1-7, 24-30).

Yam does not explicitly disclose:

- Wherein said processing command indicates an instruction for editing the obtained original data.

However, in an analogous art, Shaffer discloses a client sending a request to a local server requesting manipulation of an attachment located in an email attachment. The request is for format conversion of the attachment (column 4, lines 15-20, 65-67, column 5, lines 1-9, 22-30, column 7, lines 39-62).

Therefore, one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have found it obvious to implement or incorporate Shaffer's processing command indicates an instruction for editing the obtained original data in Yam's system in order to for the recipient user to have access of the attached file.

As per claim 6, Yam further discloses a data communication method according to claim 5, wherein said transmitting electronic device comprises an image pick-up device for capturing still image data as the obtained original data, and the processing command comprises an editing command for editing the still image data (column 1, lines 52-58, column 3, lines 26-30, column 5, lines 14-24).

As per claim 7, Yam discloses a data communication method according to claim 5, wherein the processing command is in a text format and is predetermined by an agreement between said transmitting electronic device and said relay server (column 5, lines 48-58).

As per claim 8, Yam discloses a data communication method according to claim 5, wherein said transmitting electronic device is connected to said network via communication means using Bluetooth standards (column 5, lines 25-35, column 13, lines 15-17, 28-30).
